

JOURNEY THROUGH THE MAZE

The maze below is a diagram of the digestive system and its major organs. Food must be pushed, moistened, and broken down by each organ in turn as the food passes through the system. With a pencil, trace a path through every box in the maze to see how food travels through the system. Number the organs to show the order in which food reaches each one.

